To whom it may concern:

It has been my pleasure to work with Hermes Construction Company over the last six months, as the Calvary Christian School cafeteria expansion started from a concept and is now nearing completion. We approached Tyson Hermes with the need to replace four classrooms located in an old modular building. The process of designing a building plan to meet the needs of the school board and school staff was a challenge from the beginning. As with every project, the budget dictated the process provide the most cost efficient and most effective building plan. I could not be more pleased with the plan developed by Tyson to meet our goals. Beyond adding a 6700 sq/ft building, we are also expanding the library, converting the original cafeteria to three classrooms, converting the original kitchen to storage, and creating a usable outdoor courtyard.

A very impressive aspect of working with Tyson has been his ability to engage all of Calvary Christian School stakeholders in the process. His commitment to understand the school's needs from all sides was instrumental in designing our final plan and gaining the support from the school family.

As of the writing of this letter, our building project is on time and on budget, with the most critical and costly construction phases complete. The functionality of the design can now be realized as you walk through the connecting corridor into the new building.

I would recommend Tyson and Hermes Construction Company for any future projects at Calvary Christian School. I would also strongly recommend Hermes to other private schools. After comparing Hermes to larger construction companies, we are pleased with our decision to contract with Hermes. We are very confident dealing directly with the owners has provided efficiency, cost savings, and on-target results.
